

Call for papers - ISES 2023

We are delighted to inform you that the 7th International Safety Education Seminar - ISES 2023 will take place at the Design Center in Linz|Austria on November 23rd and 24th, 2023.

In 2011, in Finland the initial concept of connecting all people committed to creating a higher level of community fire safety awareness and education was born. This was followed by further successful seminars in Helsinki, Stockholm, Arnhem, Antwerp and Dublin. The event has grown significantly over the years, even the difficulties and challenges of the last years couldn't stop this Seminar.

Now it is the turn of the Austrian Fire Brigade Association to host this auspicious event in 2023 with the support of the Federation of European Union Fire Officers (FEU) and the European Fire Safety Alliance (EFSA).

The main themes of this year's seminar are focussed on:

- fire safety education from Kindergarten to University,
- fire safety strategic planning,
- how to influence the fire safety behaviour of various age groups,
- use of data analysis / statistics, scientific research and fire risk models in the development of fire safety policy,
- fire safety educational messaging and communication,
- use of artificial intelligence, emerging technologies, gaming and other innovative solutions in developing best practice in fire safety education and awareness.

This is an excellent opportunity to showcase your latest research / programmes / projects / innovations with a broad spectrum of stakeholders involved in fire safety awareness and education worldwide. We would be very pleased to have the benefit of your knowledge and expertise.

If you or any of your colleagues are interested in making a presentation at the seminar, we invite you to submit a short summary of your proposed presentation that covers any of the topics above for review by the organising committee.

Please submit your proposals to the undersigned before April 30st 2023.

The organising committee will then review all submissions. We will contact you shortly afterwards to let you know if your proposed presentation is successful or not. We plan to have the seminar programme finalised before the end of May 2023.

We look forward to your participation at the 7th International Safety Education Seminar in Linz and can promise you some good networking experiences as well as some good Austrian hospitality!

Kind regards,
